

VOICES

ACROSS BOUNDARIES

a multifaith review of current affairs

- ▣ Is our water safe, sacred or for sale?
- ▣ How do we explain 9/11, Kosovo, Rwanda, the Holocaust?
- ▣ Is community really possible in our fast-paced high-tech world?
- ▣ Does cloning represent hope for infertile couples or a threat to our humanity?

CONTRIBUTORS

Leading minds, award-winning writers and private citizens explore these questions and many more in this new English-language magazine of current affairs.

PERSPECTIVES

Launched in May 2003, Voices Across Boundaries goes beyond the mainstream media, offering readers a thought-provoking mix of cultural, spiritual and secular perspectives, and in-depth reflections on contemporary issues and themes.

READERS

Voices readers, for the most part, are baby-boomers or older, with post-secondary educations. They are open to new and fresh ideas, with interests that include current and international affairs, spiritual and religious issues, and cultural, political and social policy. While technologically aware, they are also readers and lovers of the printed word.

CIRCULATION

1500 — and growing!
